By order of the General Committee,
JAMES COOPER,
265 Honorary Secretary.

To the Independent Electors of the City of Sydney.

GENTLEMEN,—I beg to announce to you that it is my intention to offer myself as a candidate for the honour of representing your City in the first Session of the new Legislative Council. After having laboured among you for the last eighteen years, in concert with other friends of freedom, to obtain those constitutional privileges, which are the rightful inheritance of Britons and their descendants, in whatever quarter of the empire they may reside, I trust,—now that the parent Legislature has at length conceded to us a portion of our birthright, that I may be permitted to found my claim to your support, on the part I have taken in procuring this important concession—tardy—as it has been, and imperfect and unsatisfactory—as it still is.

My public principles have been so often before the public, in the course of the long and arduous struggle, which has led to this approaching change in our form of government, that I do not consider it necessary to trouble you with a recapitulation of them now—feeling confident, that my veneration for civil and religious liberty, and for all the free and expansive elements of our happy constitution, will not be doubted by any one, who is acquainted with my public career.

Should it be your pleasure to elect me to the distinguished honour of being one of your first representatives, I pledge myself to deal with all measures, that may be propounded to the Council, according only to my deliberate views of their probable tendency, come from what quarter they may; giving to whatever I may deem beneficial to the general weal, my cordial support; and to whatever I may judge detrimental, my strenuous opposition.

A son of the soil myself, it must be almost needless to add, that my whole interests, feelings, and prejudices, are identified with the prosperity of my country—a prosperity which, I know, can only be insured by free institutions and equal laws. To revive and re-establish that prosperity on lasting foundations is evidently the first want of the Colony, and will be the first duty of its new Legislature.

After having devoted the best energies of my life to promote the interests of my country, I trust it will not be deemed presumptuous in me to anticipate, that few will be found in its Councils more competent to assist in extricating it from its difficulties; still fewer—with more experience, purer intentions, or greater zeal.

I have the honour to be,
Gentlemen,
Your most obedient humble servant,
W. C. WENTWORTH.
Vaucluse, December 19. 8390

To the Independent Electors of the City of Sydney.

GENTLEMEN,—Upwards of twenty years since, I obtained for this colony the repeal of certain destructive local duties on its principal exports at that time; the removal of some restrictions as to the use of the Crown Lands, which were incompatible with the prosperity of our grazing interests. I was also instrumental in procuring the adoption of other measures for the relief of our agriculture, at that time almost destroyed. Since that period, I have unremittingly laboured with other friends of the colony, in the establishment of means for affording a liberal education to our youth, on a scale commensurate to its growing requirements. I have afforded much of my time in various departments, in the management of our two principal national institutions for the relief of our decayed citizens, and for seventeen or eighteen years, more particularly for the last six or seven years, I have been unremitting in my exertions, in connexion with other friends of civil and religious liberty, and of good government, to obtain and to preserve to us, not only those free institutions of which we are already possessed, but that also which we are now about to enjoy.

So long a period of almost unremitting exertion in the public affairs of this colony, has at least afforded me the means of obtaining much information and practical experience. This has induced me to offer myself as a candidate at the ensuing election; and should I obtain the distinguished honour of being elected to represent this important City in the local legislature about, for the first time, to be established I will at least pledge myself to endeavour to promote the best interests of the constituency which I shall have the honour to represent, and of the colonists generally, with unabated exertion. I have the honour to be,
Gentlemen,
Your most obedient servant,
8527 W. BLAND.

To the Independent Electors of the City of Sydney.

GENTLEMEN,—I beg to apprise you of my intention to offer myself as a candidate for the representation of this, my native City, in the first Elective Legislature of Australia.

In the present uncertain state of all measures relating to our Colonial politics, professions of political opinion must necessarily be to some extent vague and undefined.

We are but entering upon the scene, in which is to be displayed, those actions which shall stamp the character of public men, with the value rightly to be attached to them.

I will therefore at present limit myself to declaring, that my political opinions are guided by a profound veneration for the true principles of the British Constitution, a decided enmity to all intolerence, either in civil polity or religion, and an earnest wish to promote the present and future welfare of this country.

With these professions, Gentlemen, I solicit your suffrages, and should I be fortunate enough to obtain your confidence, I pledge myself to exert to the utmost my abilities in your service.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
M. C. O'CONNELL.
Sydney, December 20. 8493

To the Independent Electors of the City of Sydney.

GENTLEMEN,—In compliance with the urgent solicitations of many of my friends, I hasten to announce to you my intention of coming forward, at the necessary juncture, as a candidate for the honour of representing your interests in the New Legislative Council; and when I shall have briefly unfolded to you my views and motives for so doing, I trust you will not hesitate to secure my election, by your votes.

My views are taken from the present formidable aspect of public affairs. My motive is, to the utmost stretch of my ability, to do you essential service.

Gentlemen, your City, in common with the rest of the Colony, has reached a critical position, and must rapidly retrograde if inefficiently represented in the forthcoming Council. It will be wise therefore of you to confide the duty of representing your interests to men of known judgment and sound principles; to men not of words but of deeds; not to "mere men of straw" but men of substance; in short to men who know your true interests, and who will honestly maintain them. Of this class of men I profess myself to be—and on my ability to convince you of my possession of those indispensable qualifications it is, that I ground my claims to your confidence and support, as well as my own hope of promoting your political welfare: for although the new Act of Parliament certainly goes far from conferring that extent of popular representation which the present critical circumstances of the Colony so imperatively demand; yet in efficient hands, with independent energetic elective members, it may, to my thinking, be rendered an instrument of much general good.

Gentlemen, I have now dwelt among you nearly thirty years, during which I believe you will all acknowledge that I have spared neither exertions nor capital to advance the public interest at the same time with my own, in promoting the useful arts, trade, and manufactures of your City. I have no private interests to gratify that are not identified with yours. I have no public interests to serve but yours I am neither a place holder nor a place hunter. I want not any Court favours. I profess to be no wordy theorist, but a practical militarian. I profess no more than what I mean, but can be staunch to what I do profess.

If you feel, Gentlemen, that these are legitimate causes why I may reasonably claim your confidence, it only remains for me to ask of you to put me to the proof, by granting me your triumphant support at the approaching election; and in the event of your returning me as your representative in the first Legislative Assembly of the Colony—believe me, it shall be my most anxious endeavour to support, as far as my experience and ability can further the great ends I have in view, each measure that may be brought forward, no matter by what individual or party, having for its object the public good of the working classes, and the encouragement of colonial manufactures in particular. Be assured I shall be always found at my post, and on the alert to give my most unflinching and determined opposition to any attempts that may be made, from sinister motives or otherwise, to stifle or counteract such measures; convinced, as I am, that on them will depend the vitality of the colony.

I shall do myself the honour of canvassing you all, personally, and in the mean time remain, Gentlemen,
Your most obedient servant,
ROBERT COOPER, Senior.
Ormond House, December 26 8948

To the Independent Electors of the City of Sydney.

IT being industriously circulated among you by several interested parties, that I do not intend to stand at the ensuing Election, I beg of you most distinctly to bear in mind that I do intend to stand forth as a candidate for your support; and that whatever I may judge detrimental, my strenuous opposition.

And as to the said artful artifice, but come forward manfully and prove to all opponents WHO IS THE MAN OF THE PEOPLE—THE WORKING MAN'S FRIEND, and the promoter of your PRODUCTIVE INTERESTS.

Believe me, ever
Your real well wisher,
ROBERT COOPER, Senior.
Ormond House, January 4. 237

To the Free Electors of the Districts of the Hawkesbury generally.

GENTLEMEN,—At the earnest solicitation of many of my friends and neighbours, I venture to come forward and offer myself as a candidate for the honour of representing your interests in the forthcoming Legislative Council.

My pretensions are of the most humble character: and I certainly should not have ventured to undertake a trust of so much magnitude, if I did not feel that by withholding I should be treating the good opinion of my friends with indifference, and I may say ingratitude.

A native of the colony, and well known to most of you, I feel it would be quite premature at present to make any professions of political opinions. Should I have the honour of meeting such support as ultimately to be returned as your representative, I shall rely upon the united support and advice of my constituents upon all matters of importance which may affect our districts, and the colony at large.

I feel, however, bound to tell you thus far: I am determined to go into the Council totally free, and unfettered to any party, but that of the welfare of my native country.

I shall feel it my bounden duty at all times to give my most strenuous support to all measures introduced, and which appear upon mature deliberation to be equitable, and have a tendency to support truth and justice, and for the general advancement of the interest of the districts, and the colony generally; and upon the other hand firmly to oppose all measures having an opposite tendency.

I shall take the earliest opportunity of waiting upon you personally; and, in the mean time, beg to subscribe myself,

Gentlemen,
Your faithful and devoted servant,
W. BOWMAN.
Richmond, December 30. 10

HAWKESBURY DISTRICTS.
To the Independent Electors of the Hawkesbury Districts.

AN active canvass having been commenced by several gentlemen in the Districts of the Hawkesbury, the electors are requested not to pledge themselves to ANY candidate until the Legislative Council, as at present constituted, have decided that there shall be a member or members for these districts, when a gentleman in every way qualified will do himself the honour of soliciting their suffrages. 231

To the Independent Electors of the City of Sydney.

GENTLEMEN,—At the solicitation of many of my friends, and under the impression that your interests would be beneficially affected by having one of your representatives chosen from the City Council, I do myself the honour of announcing my intention of starting as a candidate for a seat in the Legislative Assembly.

It has come to my knowledge that it is more than probable you will be represented by three, if not by four members; and I labour under less restraint, in consequence, in soliciting from you fresh honours in addition to those with which you have already distinguished me, as my return would not, under such circumstances, deprive you of the talented services of several of the candidates already in the field, and in whom many of you have already declared yourselves to repose so much confidence.

Holding in the deepest veneration the grand principles of the British Constitution, and those of civil and religious freedom, I shall not permit party feelings to actuate me in the discharge of the duties arising out of the position in which I am so desirous your suffrages should place me. I shall go into the Council more particularly as the Representative of a Commercial Community, pledged to watch over the laws regulating its trade and commerce, and to forward to the utmost of my power its interests, and the interests of the Colony at large; and as some token of my sincerity in making this declaration, I beg that I may be allowed to advance the character I have hitherto borne, as well as the large stake I possess in the colony, and the anxious interest I have ever evinced in its prosperity and well being.

The demands of the colony for legislative enactments calculated to advance her interests and alleviate her burdens, must occupy the fullest attention of the new Assembly, and will require the careful study and consideration of its Members: but upon these, as upon other questions embracing more particularly points of commercial or of agricultural importance, it would be premature, at this early stage, to advance an opinion. I allude to the subject merely as it affords me the opportunity of confessing my sense of the difficulties that, in the first dawn of our participation in the glorious and honored rights of our forefathers, your representatives must be prepared to meet and to overcome; and of reiterating my determination, if you will so permit me, of devoting my best energies to the accomplishment of this most desirable object.

I have the honor to be,
Gentlemen,
Your obedient and very humble servant,
JOHN HOSKING.
December 28, 1842. 8880

To the Independent Electors of the City of Sydney.

GENTLEMEN,—To prevent any misconception as to the position which I wish to occupy as a candidate for a seat in the Legislative Council, I beg to explain, that from a desire not to interfere with the claims of two gentlemen already in the field, it is in the event only of there being more than two members, that I shall do myself the honour of soliciting your suffrages at the election.

I have the honour to be,
Gentlemen,
Your obedient and very humble servant,
JOHN HOSKING.
Sydney, December 31. 44

COUNTY OF CUMBERLAND
GENERAL ELECTION.

THE Gentlemen in the several districts of the county, who have undertaken to procure signatures to the requisitions to W. Lawson, Esq., and James Macarthur, Esqrs., are particularly requested to return them to my office, Parramatta, on or before Saturday, 7th January, as it is proposed to hold a meeting of the friends and supporters of the above named gentlemen, at Mrs. Walker's Hotel, Parramatta, on an early day in the ensuing week, of which due notice will be given.
JAMES BYRNES, Acting Secretary.
Parramatta, December 31. 29

A NUMBER of the friends of Mr. W. BOWMAN having met this day, at the Black Horse Inn, Richmond, to consider the propriety of returning him as a Member of the forthcoming Legislative Council,

WILLIAM COX, Esq., in the Chair,

It was resolved—That a meeting should be held at Mr. Cross's Hotel, Windsor on Saturday, 7th January, at two o'clock, and at the Black Horse Inn, Richmond, on Monday, the 9th January, at two o'clock, for the purpose of adopting measures to ensure his election for the Hawkesbury districts.
Richmond, January 2. 169

To the Electors of the town of Windsor, and the adjacent Districts.

FRIENDS AND COUNTRYMEN,—Our common interests are henceforward identified more intimately than they have ever yet been. The last Act of the British Parliament for the government of this colony, in granting an extension of the legislative body, has conferred upon you the birthright of your forefathers. You will be shortly called upon to exercise the birthright, so conferred, in choosing individuals from amongst you as your representatives, in whom you can place the most unlimited confidence. It is not without diffidence that I now apprise you of my intention (in case no person of superior qualifications may offer) to suggest my nomination at the ensuing election.

A seven years' service in the Commissariat Department will not be, I trust, altogether without its recommendation, as it imparted a tolerable knowledge of the practical and systematic working of the machinery of government, the whole of that period having been devoted to the desk.

Entertaining, in common with the most enlightened of my countrymen, a profound veneration for the British constitution, it will be my highest ambition, in the event of being elected, to carry out to the utmost of my power every principle embodied therein, and to prostrate every act that may appear repugnant thereto. A strenuous and unflinching advocate for equal laws, and the due administration of justice—on which the happiness of a people so greatly depends,—it shall be my constant duty to vigilantly watch over this branch of the government, and in particular with reference to its exercise in the inferior courts of law. I pledge myself, also, to use my best exertion to conduct into operation every work of public utility, that may have the effect of bringing into tangible benefit the vast resources of the territory; and also to support religious toleration, and the extension of a popular, moral, and comprehensive system of education.

In these, as in all other subjects affecting the general welfare of the colony, the utmost of my energies shall be devoted to the protection of your natural rights, liberties, and immunities.

Believe me to be
Your faithful friend,
W. P. WILSHIRE.
Wilshirehurst, North Richmond, Jan. 5.

P.S.—As it is probable I may not be able personally to solicit your votes, I trust you will reserve to yourselves the right of not voting for any person until the day of election, when you will have had an opportunity of judging who may represent you with the greatest efficiency.
217 W. P. W.

THE undersigned proposes to deliver an address to the Constituency of Windsor, and the surrounding districts, on the subject of the election shortly to take place; which will embrace a review of the Bill for the government of the colony—the sacred nature of the duties of electors—the qualifications necessary for representatives—and the great danger to be apprehended from returning members wanting in talent, independence of principle, and moral energy, to resist the encroachments of the Government upon the rights and privileges of the people, in the levying of taxes, &c., as the Government can ensure a majority in all cases wherein the crown nominees, and seven only of the elective members, can be brought over to sacrifice the interests of the public.

The place and date on which the address will be delivered will be indicated in a future advertisement,
W. P. WILSHIRE,

To the Independent Electors of the Counties of St. Vincent and Murray.

GENTLEMEN,—Presuming that the counties of St. Vincent and Murray will return a member to the New Legislative Assembly, I beg to announce to you my intention of offering myself as a candidate for the honour of becoming your representative.

The grounds upon which I venture to lay claim to this mark of your confidence, are, the fact of my having resided in the colony for the last seventeen years, and having thus had an opportunity of becoming intimately acquainted with its interests. The knowledge and experience which I have thus acquired, I shall, should you do me the honour of returning me as your Representative, employ to the best of my ability in promoting those objects most conducive to the welfare of the colony.

MAITLAND ACADEMY.

THE REV. THOMAS AITKEN, A.M., begs to inform the inhabitants of Maitland, and the districts of the Hunter, that he will, on the 16th January next, enter upon the duties of the above institution, formerly conducted by the Rev. John Gregor, A.M., and that the branches of education taught, and the terms for boarders and day-scholars, will continue the same as before.

Mr. Aitken begs to intimate to those gentlemen who proposed to place their sons under his care, as boarders, in Sydney, agreeably to his late advertisement, that he will be happy to receive them at East Maitland, where the strictest attention will be paid to their domestic comfort, and to their moral and intellectual improvement.

Mr. Aitken, having been long employed in the business of education, both in the mother country and in this colony, has had much experience in the art of teaching; and hopes, by a zealous and faithful discharge of his duties, to merit a continuance of that support which has been so liberally afforded to his predecessor.

The branches of education taught are—English Reading, Grammar and Composition, Geography, Writing, Arithmetic, Bookkeeping, Algebra, Geometry, &c., the Latin, Greek, and French Languages, together with the usual polite accomplishments.

TERMS:

For boarders—for boys above 8 years of age, per annum	£40
Under that age, per annum	£35
For day scholars, per annum	£12

To be paid quarterly in advance; and a quarter's notice to be given previous to the removal of any boarder.

The academy will re-commence on Monday, the 16th of January next, and an early attendance is requested.

LADIES' SEMINARY,
Australian College Buildings.

THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS in this Establishment commenced on Saturday, the 16th instant, and the classes be resumed on Tuesday, the 17th January next; application for the admission either of Boarders or of Day Pupils, be made (if by letter, post paid) to Mrs. Atkinson, at the Seminary. As able and efficient teachers will be employed in instructing the young ladies in the various branches of education taught in the Seminary, while the building in which it is conducted is peculiarly airy and central, the advantages which it holds out for the education of young ladies will be sufficiently obvious. Although the establishment was commenced, as soon as the building could be got ready, towards the close of the past quarter, it was not expected to be in full or efficient operation till the commencement of the ensuing year.

Young ladies attending the various classes of the Seminary will be admitted, without any additional fee, to the Course of Lectures to be delivered in the Lecture Room of the Australian College, by the Rev. Dr. Lang, as soon as the building now erecting for the purpose shall be completed.

MR. J. They are guaranteed to answer every purpose of articulation and mastication. Mr. E. begs to invite the public to an inspection of the specimens of his effective system of dental mechanism in all its varieties—so free from pain in their application—and which may be seen at his residence daily.

The Jane Scott, reports the Nancy, Jess, Stranger, Perseverance, and Letitia, at the M'Leay; the latter was undergoing repairs.

The City of Aberdeen having been repaired, was got off the Patent Slip yesterday, and her place was taken by the Alfred, to be recoppered. The Lawrence will be the next vessel on.

The Eagle has hauled into Darling Harbour, off Moore's wharf, and is fast loading with wool for London.

The Helvellyn is taking in cargo rapidly for London, and is expected to leave about the 20th instant.

Launch.—A beautifully modelled schooner, of about 70 tons burthen, was launched on Wednesday last, at Pyrmont, from Mr. Russell's ship yard. She was sent out in frame from Sweden in the brigantine Bull, of which vessel she is the exact model. It is generally considered that she will be a fast sailer; but it is not yet known in what trade she will be engaged. She was christened the Ernest.

THE NEW ACT.

A Government Gazette Extraordinary was published yesterday, containing the New Act (which appeared in yesterday's Herald,) and the following Proclamation:—

PROCLAMATION.

By His Excellency Sir George Gipps, Knight, Captain-General and Governor-in-Chief of the Territory of New South Wales and its Dependencies, and Vice-Admiral of the same, &c., &c.

Whereas, by an Act passed by the Imperial Parliament of Great Britain and Ireland, in the fifth and sixth years of the Reign of Her present most gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, intituled, "An Act to provide for the Government of New South Wales and Van Diemen's Land," it is amongst other things enacted, that the said Act shall be proclaimed by the Governor of New South Wales within six weeks after a copy of it shall have been received by him, and shall take effect within the said colony from the day of proclamation thereof: Now therefore I, the Governor aforesaid, do hereby certify and make known that I received a copy of the said Act on the first day of January instant, and in pursuance of the directions therein contained, I do hereby proclaim the same; and the said Act will accordingly take effect within the said colony from the day of the date hereof.

Given under my Hand and Seal, at Government House, Sydney, this fifth day of January, one thousand eight hundred and forty-three.

GEORGE GIPPS.

By His Excellency's Command,

E. Deas Thomson.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

Summonses calling together the members of the Legislative Council, for Tuesday, the 24th instant, were issued yesterday.

SHOULD A JUDGE BE A MEMBER OF THE NEW LEGISLATURE?

A very active canvass in favour of Mr. Roger Therry is being carried on in the county of Camden, and therefore, although he has not yet publicly announced his intention of coming forward as a candidate, we think we are justified in making a few remarks upon his fitness for the office. We regret to say that we feel bound to oppose Mr. Therry's election, upon grounds which appear to us to be insuperable. We say we regret this, because we are fully aware of the many qualifications which the learned gentleman possesses for the office of a legislator.

We object to Mr. Therry because he is a government officer, and therefore, according to the spirit of the New South Wales Act, ineligible for election. The twelfth clause, which authorises the appointment of twelve Crown nominees, provides that "not more than half the number of such non-elective members shall hold any office of emolument under the Crown within the said colony." This proviso, we think, makes it clear that the intention of the framer of the Act was that six, and six only, of the government officers should have seats in the council, and as there are already twelve nominees, who, from the circumstance of their all living in Sydney, will be a virtual majority, we hope the electors will pause before they make this an actual majority. It must be borne in mind that if only six of the elected members are supporters of the government, there will be a government majority. The circumstance of Mr. Therry being a government officer therefore appears to us to cause a twofold objection to his election: first, that his election will be contrary to the spirit of the Act; and, secondly, that it is inexpedient to add to the number of Government officers which the act of Parliament places in the Council.

In the course of next month Mr. Plunkett will probably arrive in the colony, and Mr. Therry will then return to his office of Commissioner of the Court of Requests; and it must not be forgotten, that under the new Act the Court of Requests will have jurisdiction to the extent of £30, so that Mr. Therry will be a Judge in all but the name. The Judges of England cannot sit in the House of Commons; and the evident tendency of Parliament for the last twenty years has been to prevent Judges of the Minor Courts from becoming politicians by contesting seats in Parliament. Thus the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Commissioners are ineligible for a seat in Parliament: the Judges of the new Local Courts (which in some degree resemble the Court of Requests) are expressly prevented from entering the house; and about two years since, when Dr. Lushington, one of the most efficient supporters of the Whig Ministry, held the office, it was resolved that at the end of that Parliament the Judge of the Admiralty Court should not sit in the House of Commons. These examples, we think, show that the policy of Parliament has been to remove from the House of Commons all persons exercising judicial functions.

The beneficial results of this policy must be evident to all who take the trouble to think upon the matter. When Mr. Therry was formerly Commissioner of the Court of Requests, his judgments gave almost general satisfaction, as was shown by the very handsome testimonial with which he was presented; but would the result have been the same if he had contested two or three elections? Would not those persons against whom Mr. Therry gave judgment, if they had exerted any influence against him at the election, be apt to suspect there was some bias on the mind of Mr. Therry against them? Would they not suspect that Mr. Therry, the Commissioner, was repaying the debts of Mr. Therry, the Candidate? We are confident that there would be no cause for any suspicion of this kind: that Mr. Therry would act as impartially as he has always done—but he would be liable to suspicion; and next to having justice administered impartially, it is important that the suitors and the public should think that it is so administered. Now if Mr. Therry were to become a politician, his natural disposition would make him, as it did some years since, a violent one; and with a violent politician for a judge, we do not think it possible that justice could be satisfactorily administered, however impartial the judge might in reality be.

For these reasons we shall think it our duty to oppose Mr. Therry's election, and we take the liberty of suggesting to the electors of Camden that they should return a settler. Their district is within a day's ride, or a day's sail of Sydney, and surely among the numerous gentry residing in the county they can find one, and we do not imagine they will return more than one member, who could devote sufficient time to his parliamentary duties to represent the district efficiently.

MAURITIUS.

We proceed now to give some more particular account of the state of Mauritius, more especially as regards the commerce of the island. Of the sugar market we find periodical accounts from the 17th August, the first public sale of the produce of the crop of 1842 having taken place on that day.

The quantity put up was 388 bags of fine yellow; sold at 8 dollars 3 cents per 100 lbs., and 324 bags very good at 7 dollars 51 cents. Accounts of weekly sales continue up to the 5th October, the supplies scanty, but realising good prices. On the 5th October we find the following in the Cerneen:—

Sugars are still scarce and in demand. The only quantity sold during the week by public competition was 350 bags of fine yellow at 8 dollars 10 cents per 100 lbs. About 3000 bags of various qualities have been disposed of by private contract, but at prices which have been kept secret.

On the 12th of October the report is as follows:—

The market during the whole of last week has been firm, and the parcels put up to competition have obtained good prices, first qualities having been placed at an advance of from 20 to 25 cents per 100 lbs. upon previous quotations. The sales amount to 4805 bags.

On the fifteenth October:—

The market is brisk, and is, we think, for some time to come at least, likely to remain so. This is to be attributed partly to the difficulty of procuring bills on London, and partly to the small quantities of sugar which arrive daily in town. Many of the planters have not yet commenced cutting, and most assert that they will make far less sugar than they did last year. On the windward side of the island particularly, they have suffered from excessive drought; so that, upon the whole, we fear we must calculate upon a greatly deficient crop.

With respect to the money market we subjoin two extracts, the first from the Cerneen of the 22nd September, and the second from the same paper of the 15th October.

It is still excessively difficult to procure metallic coins, whether for local circulation or for exportation. The last sale of Spanish dollars was effected at 24½ per cent premium, that is to say at 16 per cent and a fraction over and above the premium which they bear as a current coin of circulation. Frech franc pieces bear also at present a value of from 5 to 6 per cent beyond the rate at which they ordinarily pass, and the various minor metallic coins even which form a part of our circulating medium are now bought up at premiums varying from 3 to 4 per cent. Sovereigns are worth 5 dollars 75 cents (or 23 shillings) each, that is to say 15 per cent more than their par value; and British silver coins 4 per cent.

The same scarcity continues to exist for Private Bills on England, and this necessarily in consequence of the small shipments of Sugars of the present crop that have yet been made. Competition for them has naturally become greater also since the Commissariat Department has ceased to issue Drafts upon the Lords of the Treasury. Bills to the amount of £500, drawn upon the Treasury in London by the Commissary at Sydney, were put up to public competition this morning at the Brokers' Room, and placed at a premium of 8 1-100 per cent. A Bill of Exchange at 30 days' sight, drawn upon the Government of Bourbon by a French Naval Officer at Seychelles (for the repairs of a vessel of war under his command) to the amount of 55,384 francs and a fraction, also put up to sale at the Room, obtained a premium of 6 1-4 per cent.

The same scarcity continues to prevail for metallic coins of all descriptions. 600 Sovereigns have been sold within the last few days at a premium of 16¾ per cent.

Private Bills on England, at 90 days' sight, to the amount of several thousand pounds sterling, have been placed during the week at 5 and 6 per cent permium.

There are no bills procurable, at the present moment, at any rate, upon either of the three Presidencies of India.

A Bottomry Bond for 8500 dollars upon the French ship Robuste, Captain Berchon, and her cargo, consisting of about 400 tons Sumatra pepper, and bound to Bordeaux direct, where the said Bond will be payable twenty days after the ship's arrival, was sold on the 24th instant at the low maritime interest of ¾ per cent upon the amount of the capital advanced.

Before quitting the subject we may add, for the information of merchants in Sydney who may be sending to Mauritius, the following notice from the Cerneen:—

Although the rates of discount ordinarily cited in the notes of sales published weekly in this Price Current are for cottons, linens, silks, and woollens, ten per cent, and for nearly all other kinds of goods or produce six per cent, a system has for some time past been adopted, in order to facilitate the disposal of merchandise, to grant the purchasers a delay of one, two, and sometimes even three months, for the payments of their accounts; although upon their settlement the same discount is deducted as if the goods had been paid for in cash on the day of their delivery. We consider it necessary to make this announcement, in order to obviate the possible misunderstanding that may arise abroad with respect to the terms on which sales are now usually effected in this colony.

This notice, however, may be but of little importance here, as—although we find beef, and cattle, and horses, imported in large quantities and great numbers into the Mauritius, from elsewhere—the only article which we can find mentioned as coming from New South Wales, in the accounts of imports and sales for the three months' papers which we have before us, is the following, in the second week in August:—

Bran.—Six hundred bags New South Wales, per Richard Mount, at 2 dollars per 100 lbs.; disc. 6.

From experiments which have been carrying on for a great number of years, it appears that tea may be successfully cultivated at Mauritius. For the last thirteen years there has been in existence in Mauritius, a society for the promotion of the study of Natural History, and lately the Loge de Paix presented to the Society a gold medal, to be awarded by them to the individual, who, by his exertions had best promoted the interests of the colony in the branch more particularly connected with the Society. The Society have awarded this medal to a M. Jaunet, in consideration of the success which his long continued efforts to produce good tea have met with. It appears that twenty-five years ago, M. Jaunet was directed by the then Governor, Sir R. Farquhar, to collect the tea plants then in the colony, and to take pains in their cultivation. M. Jaunet did so with varied success; but was not enabled to bring the teas to perfection, from his ignorance as to the manner in which the tea plant should be cultivated, until he heard of the method of treating the Assam teas. Since then, his success has been complete, and he has produced four sorts of tea, which he says may again be subdivided by those in the trade.

Mr. Evenor Dupont had been appointed Advocate-General in the place of Mr. E. A. Williams, appointed, pro tem., Third Judge of the Court of Appeal.

A patent had been granted to a M. Emile Thevenin for five years, for an improvement on sugar-house's boilers, &c.

Mr. John Tennant, editor of the English portion of the Cerneen died in the second week of October, deeply regretted. He was a native of the Cape of Good Hope, but had been many years connected with the Cerneen.

We believe we have now noticed every thing worthy of attention in the papers before us. On another occasion we shall call the attention of our readers more particularly to the measure adoped by the Government of Mauritius with respect to Coolie Immigration.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE.

INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS.

Thursday.

Before the Chief Commissioner.

PROOF OF CLAIMS.

In the estate of Alfred Levien, of West Maitland, commission agent and dealer, a single meeting: Charles Robins, £55. The meeting allowed this insolvent to retain his furniture and wearing apparel.

In the estate of Henry Smeathman, of Brisbane Water, gentleman, a single meeting: N. Bushby, £18 18s.; W. T. Cape, £75 10s.; John Robertson, £160; T. Agars, £4 6s. 6d.

Special meetings for examination were held in the respective estates of Benjamin Singleton, of Patrick's Plains, farmer, and Peter Grogan, of Hexham, labourer, both of which were adjourned till to-day.

EXAMINATIONS.

In the insolvency of Henry Doyle, tailor, of Elizabeth-street, Sydney, whose schedule had been filed on the 27th May, 1842.

December 23, 1842.—A special meeting was held for the examination of the insolvent, when he was examined by the Chief Commissioner as follows:—My schedule is correct in all respects; I swear that William Birmingham's debt of £1 16s. is a good one, there is a set off of 12s.; Mr. Poole owes me £1, there is no set off; Mr. John Rossiter owes me £1 16s., there is no set off; Thomas Foster owes me £1 18s., there is no set off; Edward Riley's estate owes me £2 5s., Mr. Riley has been dead for nearly two years, this is a good debt, it was for clothes and lodgings; M'Leod owes me £3 10s. and is a good debt: Mr. Hesketh, of the Australian, owes me 10s., good; Samuel Moon owes me £2 14s., good; I have found this to be good since I made out my schedule; Mr. Josephson owes me 18s., good; Mr. Algar owes me £1 13s. 6d. for rent, good; William Mather owes me 14s. 2d., good; Charles Simpson owes me £2 12s., good. There is only £1 4s. put down in my schedule, but it should have been £2 18s.; Charles Lewis, of Port Macquarie, owes me £4 16s., this is a good debt, although not inserted in my schedule; it was an omission of mine that I did not insert it; I made out the schedule myself; Mr. Pemell owes me £12, though not inserted in my schedule, I have not received any money from him since my sequestration, I gave him a receipt in full for £12, because he had a bill of mine for £5, and the interest at 5s. a week for the £5, amounted to my claim against him, so I gave him a receipt in full. I did not tell Mr. Crane that I would pay him Josephson's rent, provided he would prove his claim against the estate to save my furniture; I did not say that I had the money at the time to pay the rent, but that I would get a friend to do so, provided my furniture was thereby saved. I have occasionally been at work since my sequestration, but I have only made sufficient to pay my necessary expenses. The enquiry was then adjourned.

Saturday, December 30.—The insolvent deposed to the Chief Commissioner as follows:—I served a copy of that summons on James Pemell personally, and showed him the original on Wednesday, the 28th December, 1842. The examination was then adjourned.

Thursday, January 5.—James Pemell was examined by Mr. Ibbotson, the insolvent's trustee, and deposed: The insolvent made me a great coat, in March, 1842; it was not worth more than two guineas; I received 6s. cash for a pair of trousers from a man in my employ; I had a cap also; I cannot say whether I had a drab waistcoat or not; I have not paid Doyle any money; I have paid nothing for the receipt now produced; I had a suit of clothes from a man named Jones; on July 1st, 1842, I settled with Doyle, and got a receipt in full of all demands; the receipt is signed "Henry Doyle, for my trustee, Charles Ibbotson." At the time I got this receipt, I gave up a promissory note for five guineas, dated June 24th, 1840, and also a work box, shawl, and I think two rings and a tablecloth; I always understood that these things belonged to his wife's sister. The insolvent made me a blue coat since his insolvency, in addition to what I had previously received from him.

Charles Ibbotson, the trustee, was examined by the Chief Commissioner as follows: I authorised the insolvent to receive moneys under his insolvency; I gave him a list and the accounts of the debts he was to receive; I did not give him Pemell's account, because I did not know Pemell owed him anything; there is an account against Pemell, but Doyle said it was paid. He did not give me any account of his settlement with Pemell until the day before his examination on the 30th December last; he did not tell me anything about the receipt Mr. Pemell produced this morning until the other day. This closed the enquiry, when the Chief Commissioner committed the insolvent to take his trial for having fraudulently omitted to enter in his schedule certain debts due to him, also for collecting moneys belonging to his estate without accounting for the same to his trustee. He was, however, allowed bail, himself in £50, and two sureties in £25 each.

New Insolvent.—George Frederick Gemmer, of the City of Sydney, gentleman, filed his schedule yesterday; liabilities, £830; assets, £50; balance deficiency, £780.

CITY COUNCIL.

The Council assembled yesterday at the Royal Hotel. The Right Worshipful the Mayor presided; and the Councillors were present, with the exception of four.

The object of meeting was, to discuss the report of the Police Committee, with a view to form an estimate of the expense for the present year.

CONVICT LABOUR.

Mr. Holden said, that before proceeding with the business which the Council had met to transact, he would beg to be allowed to withdraw the notice of motion which now stood on the paper in his name, proposing an application to the Government for convict labour. Since the last meeting of the Council, he had made very particular inquiries as to the state of the labouring classes in Sydney: and he was sorry to say that he had found that a far greater degree of distress existed than he had anticipated. He would be the last to aggravate that distress, but if possible would alleviate it; and he hoped that he should be assisting in alleviating that distress by withdrawing altogether the notice of motion which he had given.

Mr. Macdermott said, he was most happy to hear that Mr. Holden intended to withdraw his notice of motion. He was sorry that it had ever been brought forward, and that it had already occupied so much of the time of the Council. The withdrawal of it would tend to allay the dissatisfaction and excitement which prevailed out of doors, and he hoped that it would be the last time that the Council would be occupied with any subject whatever connected with the Convict System.

VALUATORS.

Mr. Foss moved, and Mr. Holden seconded, that the name of Mr. Goodall, Surveyor, be substituted for that of Mr. Blackett, as one of the valuators for Bourke Ward.

The motion was carried without opposition.

A long conversation ensued, the subject of which was as to whether, in the event of the Ward Committees being dissatisfied with the valuators appointed for such wards, the Committees had the power, without coming to the Council, of substituting others in their places.

It was decided, that according to the Act of Council, all appointments must be made by the Council, but in this case the Committees were empowered to appoint provisionally, the Council agreeing to confirm such appointments.

POLICE ESTIMATES.

The Mayor called upon the Council to proceed with the discussion of the Police Report.

The Town Clerk read the first section of the Report, together with the schedule referred to in it.

The Mayor said, that the Committee, in their report, mentioned one of the schedules as the proposition of the Chief Commissioner. Mr. Miles had stated, however, that he had not made it as a proposition, but as a suggestion.

Mr. Alderman Broughton said, that he could scarcely imagine what the difference was in this case. Mr. Miles had certainly not given to the Committee any written proposition or suggestion; but in a conference which he had with Mr. Miles, Mr. Miles had suggested the items as they appeared in the schedule.

Mr. Holden enquired whether the Council were to understand that the report emanated from Mr. Alderman Broughton or from the Committee.

Mr. Broughton replied, that at the conference he had just alluded to, Mr. Foss was present, and he had called on Mr. Holt, the other member of the Committee, and had requested him to attend at the appointed hour; but that gentleman said he had to go out of town, and that he could not go, and "you will do as well."

After some further desultory conversation, the Council went on with the items in the schedule.

The first item was, the salary of Mr. Miles, styled in the report "Chief Commissioner of Police."

A lengthy talk took place as to this title, and it was finally agreed that the Council should recommend that henceforth Mr. Miles be styled Chief Commissioner of Police, the salary to be £500 per annum as at present.

The next item was the salary of the two Police Magistrates, one at £400 and the other at £300 per annum.

Several of the members of the Council stated their opinions that the expenses of the police, as proposed, were far too great at present; but at the same time expressed their fears that any alteration would at present be injudicious, as the Council could not be aware what was really required. In another year the Council would have more experience, the city magistrates might have gained experience, and the police magistrates might be dispensed with altogether.

No member of Council proposed any reduction, and the item was passed.

The next item was for Clerks' Salaries; one clerk of the second class, £300; six of the third class, four at £200, one at £155, and one at £140.

Some discussion took place on this item; but the Council wanting information as to the duties of the clerks, were in the same position as with respect to the police magistrates, and the clerks were allowed to pass.

The two Assistant Clerks, on the list at 6s. per diem each, were next disposed of, and recommended to be retained.

The Office-keeper at a salary of £20 was also allowed, and the two Messengers at 3s. 5d. each per diem.

The Chief Constable's salary, £150 per annum, was passed: objections were raised to the Chief Constable being employed on the distilleries, and it was said that both the Chief Commissioner and the Chief Constable should have enough to do with the police, without the distilleries, and that the government should be required to appoint other persons for the distilleries.

The next item considered was the salary of the Chief Inspector, hitherto called Assistant Superintendent.

A very great deal of discussion took place about the title and the duties of this officer, with neither of which any one of the members of the Council appeared to be at all acquainted.

Finally it was resolved that this officer should be continued at a salary of £135 per annum.

Next came the Inspectors, and these were mixed up with the Sergeants. A number of resolutions were moved and withdrawn. The number of officers, in proportion to constables, was opposed by some of the Council; some were for dispensing with the inspectors altogether; other for doing away with the sergeants; some for increasing inspectors, reducing sergeants, and increasing the number of privates. The Council at length came to the decision to recommend that there should be four inspectors, twelve sergeants, and seventy ordinary constables at the present rates of pay.

The Runners were struck out altogether.

The item for forage for the Chief Commissioner's horse was also struck out.

The next item was for Clothing; but after some conversation, the Council adjourned to Monday. The first business to be brought on being the item of Clothing for the Police.

New Appointments.—"Captain Browne, as Superintendent of the Water Police, and Captain Watson, as Harbour Master, have both been superseded by appointments from home. The former by a Mr. Ballytine, the son of Captain Ballytine, of the Thames Police, and the latter by a gentleman holding the rank of a Post Captain in the Navy." The above appeared in the Australian of Thursday, and is incorrect. There is a rumour that a Mr. Moriarty, a relation of Captain Moriarty, of Hobart Town, had received the appointment of Harbour Master immediately before the Hamlet sailed, but we can gather no information with respect to the Water Police-office, and we have little doubt it has been invented by some fertile genius.

Appin.—The Bishop of Australia left town yesterday, on a visit to Appin, where he will hold a confirmation and preach on Sunday.

Scholastic.—The Rev. James Walker, M.A., who arrived in the colony a few days since, has been appointed master of the King's School, Parramatta, which will be opened under his management in a few days.

Election Movements.—Mr. Charles Cowper, of Wivenhoe, has come forward as a candidate for the representation of the county of Camden.

City Council.—Notices were issued yesterday, calling a meeting of the City Council for Monday. This will be the last time the Council will meet at the Royal Hotel, their subsequent meeting will take place at the Chambers in York-street.

The Sydney Dispensary.—We are informed, that by some regulation which prevails at the Dispensary, youths who are preparing themselves for the medical or surgical professions are not allowed to attend the Dispensary to profit by the experience which might there be gained. Such a restriction is most injurious, and we feel sure that its tendency need only be pointed out to those who have the ordering of these matters, to have the restriction withdrawn at once. In the mother country, dispensaries are always attended by apprentices and students, in order that, by seeing the practice of their masters and others, they may increase their own qualifications; to become, sooner or later, members of the professions.

Astronomy.—The curious in astronomy may not be displeased with the following notice: "I wish to let you know of the following phenomenon, in the event that should it prove instructive, you would be pleased to give it a place in your Gazette: 'Two very beautiful dark spots may now be seen on the Sun's Disc, travelling towards the right, accompanied by the usual luminous border, and may be distinctly discovered with telescopes of moderate power, having the eye protected with a piece of dark-coloured glass.'"—Correspondent of the Cerneen: Port Louis, October 20, 1842.

Accident.—Yesterday morning, a young man employed at wood-cutting on the Annandale estate, while engaged at work, unfortunately allowed his axe to slip, or to glance off from a stump, the consequence of which was, that the sharp edge cut through his boot, severed a portion of the large toe, and penetrated a considerable depth into the foot. He was immediately brought into Sydney with a dispensary order; but being before the hours of attendance at the Institution, he was taken on to Dr. Mackellar's residence, where the bone was removed, and the wound, which is of a very serious nature, dressed as speedily as possible.

Furniture.—Messrs. Foss and Lloyd have an extensive sale of furniture, glass, &c., at their rooms, this day, at eleven o'clock.

NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR.

(From our various Correspondent)

PARRAMATTA.

There is every prospect of an abundant season in the districts of Pennant and Castle hills, particularly in regard to peaches, pears, apples, and quinces. There has been an average wheat and hay crop. In the town, the builders are all in a state of activity, and the forthcoming election is affording for the present ample matter for talk with all parties. It is said that the friends of H. H. Macarthur, Esq., have secured his return as representative for this place, in the forthcoming House of Assembly.

CAMPBELLTOWN.

Since the late rains, of which the grounds in this quarter were much in want, we have had every reason to believe that the crop will be at least an average one; except in parts where they are very late, the wheat harvest has been brought to a close. The maize crop is likely, after all our fears, to be a good one; there is however but too good reason for stating, that unless some means can be devised of converting our produce into cash, that the times will still press heavily on many of us.

BRAIDWOOD.

There has been an excellent crop in this district, and from the ample supply of herbage and forage which has been produced by the late seasonable rains, both sheep and cattle are in excellent condition. The prices of every description of stock is still, however, so low, that we but receive half the benefit of the abundance of the blessings which Providence has been pleased to bestow on us.

BATHURST.

Within the last few weeks the face of nature has been entirely changed in this district; what was before apparently a scorched and burnt up waste, is now clad with a most luxuriant carpet of lively green, all the pasture grounds having been refreshed by copious showers. The wheat and maize crops are most abundant, while the flocks and herds are at once thriving and healthy. The only drawback to the prosperity of this quarter is the absence of capital, and the difficulty with which every description of stock or farm produce can be disposed of. The district is in a very quiet state; bushranging appears to have entirely ceased, except in the Mudgee district, where a few crawlers are still hanging about. The Christmas holidays went over quietly, and every one seemed to enjoy himself.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

WHERE SHALL I STAND FOR?

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen.—Having determined on obtaining a seat in the House of Assembly, I have been for the last few days engaged in examining my qualifications and principles, to see for what town or district I should offer myself as a candidate. Now, gentlemen, I must tell you, I disapprove of a gentleman getting into the House first, and forming his principles afterwards; averse to pledges, abhorring shackles, still, I think a man should avow what his present principles are, and his intentions regarding such subjects as the Land Fund, Immigration, Coolies, &c., &c. A man may see good reason to change his opinion; but the man who goes into the House without one, will, in all probability, become a Government make-weight. Now, gentlemen, if I propose for Sydney, I must be prepared to defend universal suffrage on the one hand, and on the other cry, the Church in danger; I must talk of the lavish expenditure of the Land Fund, and say property ought to be represented—shall I offer for Sydney? or the Hawkesbury District.—Why not. P. and F. and C. are in the field. Now there, I must say, "I demand a protecting duty on corn."—I must demand a grant of money to enable them to make the new road, on the ground, the just ground, that this district has had less done for it than any other. Shall I offer for the Hawkesbury or the Bathurst District.—Here, "Coolies, we must have Coolies," and I must ask and demand that the rights of the squatters should be protected—"the squatters are the soul of the colony," and if their interests are to be in the power of one man, this splendid colony, this magnificent colony, will be ruined. No, gentlemen, nothing less than a board, (nice snug things), to examine and determine the justice of my cause will satisfy the people. Shall I offer for Bathurst or the Camden District.—Here I must pledge myself to free and unrestrained immigration; I must state, "I respect the religion of the state;" but, gentlemen, the religion of the people must be respected, education must be free and shackled by no party. Here I must pledge myself to cause an enquiry, yes, gentlemen, a rigid enquiry into market dues. Shall I offer for this, or Wollongong; I ask justice for Wollongong, give her a road, gentlemen, a fair chance, I ask no more than this at your hands, this I demand, and a protecting duty on potatoes; shall I offer for Wollongong; perhaps, gentlemen, you will agree with me in thinking I had better wait a few days, I am certain of being elected, I have so many things in my favour.

First.—I am colonial.
Second.—My mother was Irish.
Third.—My father was Scotch.
Fourth.—I am good friends with the clergymen and police magistrates.
Fifth.—I am rich, I have thousands out on mortgage.
Sixth.—I am a Bank Director.
Seventh.—I have an interest in the Gas.
Eighth.—I have an interest in the city.
Ninth.—I have land interest.
Tenth.—I have cattle interest.
Eleventh.—I have sheep interest.
Twelfth.—I have a squatting interest.
Thirteenth.—I don't like to pay taxes.
Fourteenth.—I give capital dinners.
Fifteenth.—I am fond of freedom.
Sixteenth.—I like equality.
Seventeenth.—I cry, "No Aristocracy."
Eighteenth.—Or any other cry that comes from the people.

I remain, Gentlemen,

A CANDIDATE IN RESERVE.

THE ELECTIONS.—GOVERNMENT CONTRACTORS.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

GENTLEMEN,—As I perceive that several aspirants for seats in the Legislative Assembly are contractors with the Government for supplying the troops, prisoners, survey parties, &c., in town and country, may I beg to ask the electors, through the medium of your influential paper, If Government Contractors be elected, can they be looked upon as independent and disinterested members? A Government contractor is disqualified for a member of the Imperial Legislature. Ought not reasons influencing in such cases at home, to have any weight here?

AN ELECTOR.

Argyle, January 2, 1842.

P. S.—Mayors, bailiffs, and sheriffs, are disqualified for the Imperial Legislature as members for their respective jurisdictions for the returning officers of same; but eligible for other places.

EMPLOYING SEAMEN IN AND ABOUT THE SHIPPING.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

GENTLEMEN,— Among the communications you receive from your numerous correspondents, it is rather a strange circumstance that the practice of employing seamen about the shipping in preference to landsmen should have escaped their observation. That a large majority of vessels leave this harbour without their full complement of hands cannot, I think, be denied; and by employing sailors to work on board the ships in harbour, not only deprives commanders of vessels from procuring the necessary number of hands; but likewise gives encouragement to seamen arriving here to desert their vessels. Another great evil is, that a large number of industrious men, who now throng our streets, are prevented, by this unjust system, from procuring a subsistence for themselves and families. Now as vessels are very frequently wrecked on leaving this port, and others return either dismasted or very much damaged, I think that if the matter was properly investigated, that it would in a greater measure be found that a large number of accidents might be prevented if there were a sufficient number of men on board to work the vessel in case of a sudden gale; as it is, ships leave here with not above one-half their complement of hands; a heavy gale sets in, and the result is, that before the few men on board can either reef or take in the sails, she is either dismasted or driven on rocks or sands, where she is totally wrecked, and very often all on board perish; how many cases of this kind have occurred in Torres' Straits, and all of them partly to be attributed to not having men enough on board to bring the vessel suddenly round. This, gentlemen, I think, is a question which will in the end materially affect the interests of the colony, and therefore calls for the serious consideration of all who have its welfare at heart. Some captains, it is said, from a miserable pecuniary motive, take out a small number of hands. But why is this allowed, why are not inspectors appointed to see that every vessel leaving this port take out a full complement; others are compelled to take landsmen as ordinary seamen, who are forced, through want of employment, to leave their homes and go to sea, perhaps never before handled a rope, and therefore quite ignorant as to the way of working the ship, and by that means endangering the lives and property of all on board. If the work on the ships in harbour was done by landsmen, we should not see so many unemployed men walking about the streets as at present. Neither would our ships go to sea half-manned, as the sailors would be glad to avail themselves of their profession. Being an Australian by birth, and having once visited the land of my forefathers, I had an opportunity of witnessing what kind of men is employed on board the shipping in loading, &c., and in the principal dock-yards. The port of Liverpool alone gives employment to many thousands of labouring men about the shipping; and it is very rare that a seaman is seen working among them, except he be one of the ship's crew. Bad as trade is in England, if this means of giving employment to landsmen was taken away, it would be infinitely worse; then why should not a labourer in Australia have the same means of employment as those in England? Having an interest in the prosperity of my native country, and being desirous that all classes should be employed advantageously, I have taken the liberty of throwing out these suggestions, hoping that some one will take the matter up. It is a subject worth the consideration of the Governor himself; for what is more likely to gain the affection and esteem of the colonists, than showing a desire and willingness to give them good and full employment.

GENERAL AGENCY OFFICE,
47, PHILLIP-STREET,

Established on the 23rd June, 1842, and conducted by

J. FREDERICK JOHNSON,

LATE CLERK TO THE "HOME FOR IMMIGRANTS."

THIS office has, since its establishment, been the means of providing with situations, upwards of 1500 persons, and numbers amongst its supporters, the most influential and respectable citizens of Sydney and colonists of New South Wales. The proprietor in returning thanks for such kind and liberal encouragement, wishes to state, that every exertion is made to establish and maintain respectable and efficient classes of domestics in the colony, and of facilitating engagements (by the constant attendance during office hours, of servants of good character) without the uncertainty and expense too often attending newspaper advertisements, which are generally replied either by incompetent or indifferent persons, whose characters are too well known at this office to entitle them to its benefits.

Amongst the numerous disengaged list will be found every description of male and female house servants, mechanics, farm labourers, shepherds, coachmen, grooms, &c.

Note.—The wages given to shepherds at this Office within the last two weeks, vary from £15 to £18, and to farm labourers £18 to £20 per annum, with a smaller ration than that named by "An Advocate for the Importation of Coolies" in the Herald of the 24th ult.; and that gentleman is informed (although this is not intended to justify the statement of Mr. Henry Townsend in the Herald of the 16th ult.) that neither in October last, nor at any preceding or subsequent period, did any difficulty occur in procuring shepherds or farm labourers from this office, (as the books will prove) at such fair and highly remunerating wages, and liberal rations as those stated to have been offered by him; his failure therefore in procuring the necessary supply can only be attributed to this fact: the application was not made through the proper channel.

The Office hours are now from 9 till 5 instead of from 10 till 3 as formerly. 343

LORD STANLEY AS COLONIAL MINISTER.

(From a Correspondent of the Mercantile Journal of September 6.)

WHEN Lord Stanley, as a member of the present Conservative administration, was called on to succeed Lord John Russell as Secretary of State for the Colonies, a general expectation was entertained, both at home and in the colonies, that his lordship would distinguish his administration by carrying out boldly and efficiently the principle of extended or national emigration and colonization, judiciously conducted, as a remedy for national distress.

Although it pleased the Lord Mayor of London, acting more in the spirit of a shipbroker in Cornhill, and a leading director of the New Zealand Company, (who are foolishly opposed to emigration on a national scale, and whose influence is greater, it is conceived, than any private company ought to be—seeing there are not fewer than twelve members of Parliament in the direction), than as chief magistrate of the first civic community in the world, to stifle the expression of public feeling in favour of this great principle, by refusing in the month of November last, to convene a meeting of the citizens of London, in terms of the numerously signed requisition that was presented to him, on the paltry pretext that, as he understood the subject was under the consideration of her Majesty's Ministers, a public meeting would only serve to embarrass them, still the public opinion in favour of it, and general desire for its adoption, were strongly expressed in almost every newspaper in the country, both metropolitan and provincial, and of all shades of politics, Whig, Tory, and Radical. It was impossible that the adoption of any measure could have been more powerfully or more unanimously advocated than extended emigration was by the public Press of the country; and the voice of the country make known through the Press was re-echoed from all our colonies.

The expectation, therefore, that when Parliament met, a measure of national emigration would be announced in her Majesty's speech from the throne was general. But when the speech came, not a word was said on the subject. On the contrary, when allusion was made to the rumour that had prevailed, sanctioned as it had been by the Lord Mayor of London, and by the silence of her Majesty's Ministers, Sir Robert Peel simply said, that they could not be answerable for any rumour that might have been raised, nor were they bound to have contradicted it. This was on the first day of the session. On the second day of the session Lord Stanley, to the surprise of every person, although the whole public Press had called for extended emigration as a remedy for national distress, chimed in with the leader of the anti-corn-law opposition, Lord John Russell, and deprecated "an extensive system of emigration;" and yet the very next day his lordship announced two bills which he meant to bring in, which surely cannot be called unextensive measures of emigration, namely, the Colonial Passengers Bill, and the Bill for Regulating the Sale of Waste Lands belonging to the Crown in Australia and New Zealand. The operation of these two measures of legislation, which are now law, will be very extensive. The principles they embody are exceedingly important as regards the welfare of the numerous emigrants who leave our shores annually, and affecting the prosperity of those growing colonies, Australia and New Zealand. If his lordship comprehends the question of emigration in all its bearings, we are at a loss to understand how, prepared as he was to announce these two measures, he came to deprecate "an extensive system of emigration," unless it were to disarm opposition, and not unnecessarily alarm the ignorance and prejudices of certain honourable members who look on emigration as "transportation," and our colonies as burdens and drawbacks. We have heard the following reason assigned why a ministerial measure for promoting emigration on a national scale was not brought forward during the session now closed—viz., that on account of the disasters sustained by our troops in India it became necessary to increase the army and recruit our regiments, and that if free emigration to our colonies had been going on, there would have been great difficulty in obtaining recruits. We are disposed to believe that this is the true reason why Lord Stanley felt himself constrained to deprecate an extensive system of emigration, and to forego for the present the adoption of a national measure for the purpose. But, if true, we see no cause why the reason should not have been openly stated at the time. Let us hope the necessity will not continue much longer to exist.

The session has now closed, and we may take the liberty of inquiring what Lord Stanley has done for the colonies. The five following acts are the principal features which mark his administration during the session:—

1. The act for settling the financial affairs of South Australia.
2. The act giving a Legislative Assembly to New South Wales.
3. The Colonial Passengers Bill.
4. The Newfoundland Legislature Act; and
5. The act for regulating the sales of land in New South Wales and New Zealand.

The first three we cordially approve of. The Act providing for payment of the debts of South Australia was only too long delayed. If it had been passed eighteen months ago, the colony would have been saved a mighty deal of suffering and suspense. Since New South Wales has obtained a Legislative Assembly of its own, let us hope the same privilege will speedily be extended to the Cape of Good Hope, a colony most unjustly neglected and overlooked; but which, if we may judge from appearances, is preparing speedily to assert its importance and its claims on the attention of the mother country. The Colonial Passengers Bill was introduced on the third day of the session, and received the royal assent only on Friday last at the close of Parliament. There was thus ample time to make the measure complete. One thing we wish is, that it had provided fully for the accommodation of emigrants on arrival at the ports of disembarkation by the erection of emigration depôts. This, however, may be considered as belonging more properly to the province of the colonial legislatures.

As for the Newfoundland Act, we consider it a despotic measure—fiat justitia ruat cœlum. The violation of the principle that a party shall not be condemned unheard is a grosser proceeding in every constitutional point of view than any outrage or extravagance on the part of the people of Newfoundland, on which the suspension of their colonial constitution is founded. The freedom and privileges of the colony are safe if the Colonial Minister is entitled to do as he has done in the case of Newfoundland. Let Lord Stanley be as high-handed as he likes when he has principle on his side, but without this his proceedings will only tell against him at some future day.

With respect to the Australian and New Zealand Land Bill, it merits naught but unqualified condemnation. It proceeds on the false assumption that money alone is wealth, that there can be no other capital than money, and is framed with no other view than to favour the acquisition of waste and unoccupied lands in Australia and New Zealand, in quantities not less than 20,000 acres, by large-moneyed men and capitalists—absentees residing in this country it may be—superintended by their agents, factors, or middlemen, and the labourers sent out by means of 50 per cent. of the price in no other condition than slaves, thus laying the foundation of all the evils of a state of things such as we see in Ireland—the wealth of the colonies drained away to enrich a set of absentee landlords, and the mass of the population left a community of paupers.

In a letter addressed to the Duke of Wellington by Mr. Gilchrist Wicker, an experienced settler in New South Wales, calling on the Duke to resist the bill in its progress through the House of Lords, he says, "Can a doubt exist whether or not thirty persons with a capital varying from £1,000 to £1,500 each, would not prove of far greater value and ultimate benefit to the colony in every point of view than the advantage of one person possessing £20,000? And, if so, why not allow the selection of the land to the former under similar regulations?

If inapplicable to New South Wales, how infinitely more inapplicable is this act to New Zealand, on account of the different nature of the country? There are no pasture lands in New Zealand. "Every acre there will require conversion as well as enclosure, or remain waste and useless." The men, therefore, to cultivate and to colonize New Zealand, which are the very men in this country who require to emigrate, and who should be encouraged by every means to emigrate, but who are almost in so many words excluded by this bill—namely, the class of small farmers whose capital is diminishing every day as long as they remain at home. These men, however, cannot purchase the lands in New Zealand in the large quantities required by the act, or if they do, they part only with their capital, and have nothing left wherewith to enter on their cultivation and enclosure. "Fifty acres of arable land in New Zealand is quite sufficient for a farmer of moderate capital to maintain himself and family." To encourage and to enable such men to emigrate, and who would be the real wealth of the colony, provision ought to have been made that, in the event of them, and their wives, and children, and servants, going out to New Zealand, deduction from the price of whatever lands they bought should be allowed them to the extent of the cost of their passage. In place of this they are required to deposit the price with the colonial land and emigration commissioners in this country, and then 50 per cent. only is allowed in the shape of passage of labouring emigrants in the first ship that may be sent out, and which may not be for a long time, and the services of whom the depositor may never obtain, as they are no way bound to him any more than to any other settler in the colony. A better way of obstructing emigration and preventing the colonization of New Zealand with useful settlers could not have been devised. The end contemplated seems not to have been the speediest colonization of the country with the best kind of settlers; but also the getting the greatest amount of money into the hands of the colonial land and emigration commissioners, regardless of the circumstances of the intending settler, and careless whether he was impoverished thereby or not, or hindered from setting about the labours of his location by being deprived of all his capital, or effectually hindered even from going at all. On this principle too, Captain Hobson seems to have acted in disposing of the lands at Auckland; there the lands were sold at high prices; the Government Exchequer was filled; but the colonists were deprived of every sixpence; they had nothing left wherewith to set about the work of colonization, and the settlement languished. The Captain forgot, what is very apt to be forgotten by governors and government officials, that they have not a separate interest; that the interests of the colonists and of the colonial government are identical; and that though the colonial exchequer may be filled, the colony may be impoverished.

Mr. Terry, in his work on New Zealand, which is the most recently published regarding that country, has a most excellent dissertation on this head, and it is to be regretted that his views and suggestions should not have been adopted in the framing of this Act. He says, "Far better that free grants of land were made to the settlers, and that they paid their own expenses." And he suggests that a moderate land-tax would yield a sufficient fund for the introduction of labour and the ordinary expenses of the colony, after a few years. "If it was known," says he, "that Government would make gratuitous grants of land on such a system of from ten to fifty acres, according to circumstances and testimonials, there would be many persons possessed of some little means who would emigrate to New Zealand at their own expense, with a view to possess some little land, and to provide for their children hereafter. Exclusive of those accustomed to farming, there are many individuals with certain yet limited annual incomes, such as retired and half-pay officers, but not possessing tangible capital to any great amount, who would gladly emigrate. To such class of persons with families, New Zealand is particularly adapted, and a few acres around a dwelling devoted to pasture for the dairy, and rearing of poultry, &c., would abundantly supply all the necessaries of life. A farm of fifty acres, supposing the whole was not cultivated until the sixth year from the date of the grant, would only pay altogether 15s. of uncultivated tax, or purchase money, and the cultivated tax would be only 10s. per annum. Such a system of taxation, or rather payment of land, would be very productive to the revenue, both for the purpose of the emigration of labourers at the expense of Government if required, and likewise to make good any deficiency of ordinary revenue to expenditure."

We have occasion to know, that more than one individual wished to press these views on Lord Stanley during the progress of the bill. His lordship declined interviews, however, and referred the parties to the Colonial Land and Emigration Commissioners, from whom, acting as they do under specific instructions, no satisfaction in any shape is ever obtained. They do not scruple to let you know, as unceremoniously as possible, that they consider you are taking up their time unnecessarily, and that they consider any suggestion by a non-official personage something like an impertinence.

If I go out to New Zealand, and take my wife and family and servants with me, why should I not be allowed the cost of passage out of the price of any land I may purchase? Can any fair reason be assigned why I should not? The end in view is accomplished—viz., the settlement of the colony; and why should not the law be made available to cover the expense? As a British subject willing to benefit my country by emigrating, and deserving every encouragement, and entitled, therefore, to a share of the colonial lands, why should I be denied this boon?

The act must be amended next session, to the effect of inserting a clause entitling all emigrants to such deductions, else New Zealand will not be colonized. Nor must the interests, or supposed interests, of the New Zealand Company be allowed to stand in the way of this.

Looking at the dreadful state of disorganisation which the country is now in, calculating the loss in uncreated capital—in wages, in expense of moving troops, in bringing offenders to trial, in supporting paupers,—would it not have been better a thousand times to have voted £1,000,000 sterling, at the beginning of the session, for emigration, and so have served to prevent these evils, than to expend or lose to the country a greater sum now in curing or attempting to cure them—evils which were predicted a twelvemonth ago. The cry of "a good day's wages for a good day's work," is a sensibly cry on the part of labouring men. It can only be answered by extending the field of employment. This can only be done, let public writers and speakers say what they like, by affording the utmost facilities by means of extended or national emigration to all who are willing to go and settle on and cultivate the wild lands of our colonial possessions. And the government and people of Great Britain ought to bless GOD, that, in the possession of such lands, they have an abundant remedy provided for the present exigencies of the country.

Let Lord Stanley deprecate extended emigration as he pleases, he will be compelled to take it up as one of the earliest measures in the ensuing session.

VILLA AND GARDEN ALLOTMENTS.

Situated on the west side of the New, or Lower Road to Point Piper, Vaucluse, and South Head, opposite to Darling Point, and the Village of Double Bay.

MR. BLACKMAN has been honoured with instructions from the trustees of St. James's Church, acting under the authority of the Act of the Governor and Council, 9th William IV., No. 5, sec. 21, to offer on Lease, by Public Auction, at his office, in George-street, on WEDNESDAY, the 18th of January, 1843, for a term of Twenty-eight years, with breaks, at the option of the lessee, at each intermediate period of seven years,

TWENTY-NINE ACRES OF GROUND,

situate as above described, recently granted by the Government as a Glebe for St. James's Church, divided into Allotments, varying in extent from half an acre to two acres. Many of the allotments possess a frontage on the new road from South Head to Sydney, and others on the road leading from that road to the old South Head Road. The situation of these allotments, being an easy half-hour's walk, or 15 minutes' ride from Sydney, makes them well adapted for sites for country residences for persons whose business obliges them to be daily in town; and the soil being suitable for garden ground, may be converted to purposes of either comfort or profit, and the proximity of the sea will enable the possessors easily to enjoy the recreations of fishing and boat excursions, and the healthy luxury of sea-bathing. There is a quarry of fine building stone open on the property.

The terms on which these allotments are proposed to be let, are considered as offering great inducements both to persons possessed of a moderate amount of capital, and to those whose means are more limited; no purchase money being required, a comparatively small sum will suffice for the erection of necessary building and fencing; and the payment of a moderate ground rent out of the annual earnings will hardly be felt, the lessees may, if they so desire, subdivide the allotments, and erect any number of buildings thereon that may suit their convenience; the only covenants to be imposed on the lessees are, that no soil shall be removed off the respective possessions; that a road shown on the plan intersecting the larger allotments about their centre, in a line parallel to their frontage, shall not be built on, and that the great small be paid half yearly. The leases to be prepared by James Norton, Esq., solicitor, at the expense of the lessees.

Any further information required may be obtained on application to Mr. Blackman, at his rooms, George-street, Mr. Goodall, Surveyor, King-street, East, or to William Macpherson, senior churchwarden of St. James's, at his office in the Supreme Court. 8396

ASHFIELD COTTAGE.

(OPPOSITE MRS. UNDERWOOD'S,)

With frontage to the PARRAMATTA ROAD of 111 feet, by a depth of 540 feet (more or less)

WITH ALL THE IMPROVEMENTS.

MR. STUBBS will put up to Auction, at the Mart, King-street, on MONDAY, the 9th day of January, 1843, at Twelve o'clock, is stated to comprise four rooms, is weatherboarded, and has a verandah flagged, a detached kitchen, store-room, two-stall stable, gig-house, pig stye, and nearly one acre and three quarters, more or less, of land, all paled in with five feet iron-bark stuff, and thrown open for garden, vegetable, or orchard purposes. Great care has been bestowed in planting the best description of trees.

THE COTTAGE

P. S.—Nothing can be more desirable than a snug little Box like this, just out of town, and where, at little expense, a man can keep his horse and gig cheap, and live away from the bustle of a densely populated City, or take the stage, if he like that better. In fact, the place is just enough and no more than is requisite for all family wants and comforts.

AFTER WHICH, will be put up, by direction of the same proprietor, the Second Property, with frontage to the LIVERPOOL ROAD, comprising TWO allotments of Land of 60 feet frontage each, (called 132 feet the two), more or less, by proportionate depths.

This situation is opposite THE CANTERBURY ESTATE, NEAR MR. GREEN'S, about five miles from Town.

It is described as all cleared, dug over, free from stumps, and ready for immediate occupation. Every man in town or country knows the value of land at or near the Canterbury Estates.

Terms for each.—Fifteen per cent. cash deposit, the residue by approved Bill at six months.

SHEEP, CATTLE, AND LAND.

In the Insolvent Estate of Henry Cowper, of the County of Murray, Farmer and Grazier.

MR. STUBBS will sell by auction, at his Mart, King-street, on FRIDAY, the 20th January, 1843, at Twelve o'clock precisely, by order of the Trustee of the above-named estate,

400 (four hundred) Wethers, fit for the butcher
370 (three hundred and seventy) young Wethers and Ewes

30 (thirty) steers, from fifteen to thirty-three months old
21 (twenty-one) heifers, from fifteen to twenty-one months old
87 In all, eighty-seven, more or less.

The above (both sheep and cattle) are now running at Braidwood, from whence they will be delivered to the purchaser immediately after the sale, being in the charge of Thomas Cowper, Esq., the trustee, who will afford every information to intending purchasers.

ALSO,

All that parcel of Land situated near Tallagandra, in the county of Murray, in the colony of New South Wales, containing by admeasurement 1150 (one thousand one hundred and fifty) acres, more or less, commencing at a marked gum tree on the Shoalhaven River, and bounded on the south by a line west, one hundred and forty chains; on the west by a line north, eighty chains; on the north by a line east, one hundred and forty-six chains, to the Shoalhaven River, and on the east by that river to the marked gum tree aforesaid.

This land will be sold subject to a mortgage by demise to the Rev. Dr. Cowper, to secure £287 10s., and interest at eight per cent. per annum, payable yearly.

The sum of £92 is now due for interest, but the mortgagee has consented not to require payment for one calendar month after the sale. The principal, together with £23 for another year's interest, will become due on the 14th July, 1843.
